Thank you very much for taking my comments tonight. Personally, the trucks on Norwalk are ruining my house. It is not just noise pollution, it is literally seismic. The repair to the sewer or water line that runs across Norwalk at Rose Dr. causes the trailers to come off the ground and crash with the force of a minor earthquake, really. My house is constantly shaking. This morning a truck shook my house at 5am, another while I was writing this email. The shaking won't stop until midnight. There is evidence all over my house in the form of cracks and uneven floors from the damage caused by the trucks because the asphalt is not level at Norwalk and Rose.

When you make this decision, please remember the young families moving into this area because it is affordable. Many families have young children, and cross Norwalk to get to school when the traffic is busy.

Also, the trucks are not saving time by taking the side streets, they are just avoiding the freeway.

It would be nice not to have all of the dirt, noise, and damage the trucks cause.

If you have any other questions please feel free to contact me by email or call/text 7143487331.
